

The writing on the wall (or board)

Yes, folks, it's really happening! A For Sale sign has gone up outside our house, where we've lived for the past 13 years. It's hard to believe! All of us found this picture shocking; but Stephen most of all. Jen and we two parents are moving on to pastures new; but Stephen is staying here in the UK and losing his family home. Do pray for him. He's already strengthening his ties with Christian families in the Sheffield area so as not to be totally deprived of home comforts!

There have been quite a few viewings since the sign went up in early February. No offers yet, but the estate agents report positive feedback, and are confident it will be sold within our time-frame.

Meanwhile we're all trying to adjust our minds to the end of an era!
